

Painted finishes differ greatly from the standard finishes offered by Smart Cabinetry. Because of these differences, it is important that you understand what it can mean in regards to both your cabinet's appearance and its warranty.

Cabinet Appearance

All wood products naturally expand and contract with changes in temperature and humidity. This natural movement may cause painted finishes to develop separation lines or breaks where any two pieces of wood join together. These breaks may become more noticeable as time passes. Like other finishes, paint is also susceptible to changes in color due to exposure to natural light, extreme heat, smoke, and abrasive cleaners. Areas with additional contact with water or fluids onto doors or drawer fronts could break-down the finish with overexposure.

These characteristics of painted finishes are not grounds for replacement under Smart Cabinetry's 1 year limited warranty, which can be found in our specifications guide.

Separation Examples

separation of door corner separatioin of door end separation of frame joint

I have read and understand the above statements. I understand that neither Smart Cabinetry nor its dealers are to be held responsible for any of the above characteristics that are later found to be undesirable.
